"AntiGravity takes to the sky."

AntiGravity is an industry-leading extreme athletics and aerial group that has been performing for nearly two decades. AntiGravity performers defy all odds by manipulating the laws of gravity and executing some of the most spectacular aerial stunts seen today. Comprised of acrobats, athletes and dancers, these artists are the premier force behind AntiGravity's undeniable presence in the extreme sports and athletic world. AntiGravity has performed for events such as the 2009 Inaugural Neighborhood Ball, The MTV awards, and 2002 Winter Olympics among others.
